

Apollo sponsors star studded charity event

27 November 2008

Apollo Motorhome Holidays has generously supplied two 6 Berth Euro Deluxe motorhomes for charity event “Songs of Hope and Joy”, held November 30. The vehicles will serve as change rooms for performing talent Shannon Noll and Paulini Curuenavuli of Australian Idol fame.

Hosted by John Paul College in Brisbane, the event was 14 year old James Hempenstall’s Starlight Foundation wish. James sadly passed away of an inoperable brain tumour this year, but the event will continue, with up to 11,000 attendees expected.

Entry is a gold coin donation to the Starlight Foundation, and artists such as the Veronicas have donated signed merchandise to raffle. Apollo CEO Luke Trouchet said he was touched by James’s story.

“I urge everyone to lend their support to this worthy event. This brave young man’s wish was absolutely selfless.” He said Apollo was “very proud to have the opportunity to support this great charity effort.”

Apollo Motorhome Holidays is the largest privately owned recreational vehicle operator in the Southern Hemisphere with a fleet of over 3000 quality vehicles. The company’s 15 branches are situated throughout Australia, New Zealand and the USA.

Tickets for “Songs of Hope and Joy” are available through Ticketmaster (visit www.ticketmaster.com.au or phone 136 100).
